“ Vicky i am so so sorry for your loss
Speaking from experience it hurts all the time
There are dayz you wanna hide from the world and just have memories of her
But I am here if you ever wanna talk

“ You don't know me, but your mom was a roommate to my mother-in-law, Mary Aycock, at Diversicare for only 2 weeks before Mary died in July 2018. They matched them with each other in that room at the end of the hall because they both had the same health issues. She watched over my mother-in-law when I wasn't there and would report to me. I was there every day and we laughed a lot. I came back to see her at least every two weeks until the end of December 2018. We stopped because of my health. I learned so much how she loved you all. I tried to keep her with instant regular coffee, candy and country music cd's that were all Mary's. She also wanted to keep a lot of Mary's clothes. I let her pick some out with jewelry (I know that was a lot to clean out...sorry about that. lol.) My husband's family are big race car fans and we talked about her history at the tracks. I was just mentioning to my husband, Charlie, that I would love to know how she was. That was last week. Wow, I didn't know she had passed away. I just looked on this website tonight looking for someone else's obituary. Just know that we enjoyed her for that little while and I am very sorry for your loss. God bless you.
